Objective of the Educational field trip conducted by the Dept. of Geography

The major objective of conducting an Educational Excursion and field trip for students is to enhance the experiential and contextual learning.

Field trips enable students to learn and experience the real world situations. Teaching - learning process gets completed when experiences with fun are gained from educational tours and excursions. These trips are arranged in such a way as to facilitate the students to know and understand the real, multicultural world in the best possible ways.

Students perform a host of activities in the Educational field in the subject following the syllabus recommended in the UG course under University of Calcutta.

The Department discreetly organizes educational trips to different urban and rural setups in order to make the students understand the man – environment relations/ interactions at different environments.

The Department has arranged field trips in

- ✦ Taki – a river side town in Hasnabad Block of North 24 Parganas for the session 2022-2023

Students through field trips achieve a higher level of critical thinking when they evaluate their own learning compared with what they get exposed to, and they are able to modify their knowledge based on their personal experiences. Field trips also offer students and teachers the opportunity to interact outside of the classroom, thus enhancing their bonding with each other and improving their social and life skills.

Expected Outcomes

The students as per their course have to perform a host of activities in pre-field period, during the field study (whether an urban area or in a rural setup) and in the post field phase. In the pre-field part, the students learn how to select a specific area based on a definite problem, the methodology to be followed for the entire study and to sort out different sources of primary and secondary data to be collected to perform the field study.

Each and every field trip starts with the reconnaissance survey of the entire area of study on Day 1 and with subsequent time the students perform detailed instrument survey for measuring relief and slope with the survey instruments like dumpy level, prismatic compass, clinometer etc. The students also perform the entire land use mapping of the area along with soil sample collections from different land-use plots. Further to study the socio-economic conditions of the inhabitants which is an essential part, they perform different kinds of surveys like door to door household survey, market survey, traffic survey, hotel and tourist survey (if the field area selected is a popular tourist spot). These close interactions with the inhabitants during the interviews enable the students to learn how man interacts with his surrounding environment in the local set up. The problems that the inhabitants face in their day to day life are identified and noted during the surveys.

These activities performed in the field are expected

- to develop expertise in selection of study area based on a specific problem, methodology for studying the area and its characters in detail
- to handle different logistics and other emergencies on field
- to develop skills in photography, surveying mapping and video recording

In the post field works at the time of preparing the detailed field report students learn different quantitative and quantitative techniques of analysis of the data collected from the field, and to draw meaningful conclusions out of the analysis done. Sometimes fruitful measures or solutions are also suggested at the end of the field report after a thorough study and data analysis.

The students also learn how to write a report with proper illustrations of diagrams and maps collected from secondary and primary sources and to present the data in an aesthetic way.

The experiential learning is achieved through educational field trips in different setups in our subject .
